:60 Ad Script

The Antidote will be back in a few, but first, a word from our sponsor, Brooklinen

The higher the thread count, the better the sheets, right? WRONG! Bigger isn't always better when it comes to bedtime comfort, and Brooklinen is here to put an end to the confusing, inflated thread count myth.

High-quality materials are actually THE most important element of a good sheet - not thread count! Brooklinen's long-staple cotton creates a soft, strong fabric that gets softer with every wash - it's literal heaven every single night. But we all still have our preferences, which is why Brooklinen offers several materials with different thread counts so you can rest easy regardless.

Maybe their crisp, Classic Percale with a lightweight 270 thread count is your jam or the silky smooth Luxe Sateen with a cozy 480 thread count might be more your speed. Either way, Brooklinen knows luxury quality and offers a top-tier 365-day return policy to ensure your long-lasting comfort.
